Ventura Industrial Real Estate Market Faces Complex Realities with Declining Lease Rates and Noteworthy Vacancy Growth Fourth Quarter

The fourth quarter brought a combination of challenges and opportunities to the Ventura Industrial real estate market, with notable shifts in key metrics and market dynamics. Thirteen assets were sold for a median price of $255, remaining on par with the previous quarter's selling price of $252.

Following a major decline in leasing activity earlier this year, the fourth quarter saw leasing activity holding steady at 356,836 square feet - mirroring the figures from the last quarter. This unchanged leasing activity ties with the previous quarter as the lowest this year and ranks as the second-lowest amount leased in nearly 15 years, only surpassing the 256,701 square feet leased in Q3 2022.

Vacancy rates continue to inch higher, increasing by 20 basis points to reach a full 4 percent. Although lease rates remain relatively high for the market, they continue to decline, reaching a year-low of $1.13. The market registered a negative net absorption of 43,002 square feet, adding to the year-to-date tally of 527,742 square feet of unoccupied industrial space. The Camarillo submarket is the largest driver of negative net absorption this quarter, reporting 179,359 square feet. By contrast, the Calabasas submarket led the market in positive net absorption, reporting 131,040 square feet.

New construction in Simi Valley/Moorpark added 49,980 square feet this quarter, with plans for an additional 886,068 square feet to be delivered in the coming year across submarkets like Newbury Park/Thousand Oaks and Agoura Hills/Westlake Village.
